DEVELOPMENT HISTORY

2014

The Founding

Accsoon officially launched the stabilizer solution for cine-cameras and stabilizer solutions for mobile phones and GoPro.

2018

International Recognition

Accsoon launched the world's first stabilizer with an integrated video transmission system at the IBC in Netherlands.

2019

Meet CineEye

Accsoon's R&D focus shifted towards wireless video transmission systems. The release of "CineEye" video transmission led to the change of wireless monitoring and started a new wave of mobile device monitoring.

2020

Introducing Dual-Band

Being the world's first, Accsoon integrates 2.4GHz and 5GHz Dual-Band technology into its wireless video transmission system, solving the problem of unstable transmission caused by interference.

Widely Praised

Accsoon has invested a lot of time and effort in wireless video transmission technology and has released a series of professional, powerful, and cost-effective products that have been approved by film industry. "The Accsoon has the best latency of any of the sub $1,000 USD compressed video transmission systems I have reviewed." — Matthew Allard, Newsshooter.com

Huge Leap

A trusted name in the production world, Accsoon has stepped up its game with this new release of Accsoon SeeMo, the world's 1st professional HDMI adapter and video capture terminal for iOS that connects via Lightning or USB-C.

2023

Powerful as Always

Accsoon is constantly working at the forefront of technology development to help videographers create amazing works.

2.4GHZ+5GHZ

Dual-Band Transmissison Technology

Resistant to Interference
Stable than Ever

Utilize both 2.4GHz and 5GHz frequencies, transmitting two images that combine at the receiver for an interference-free and low-latency image.

No black screen, no drop-outs.

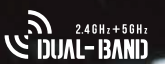

Dual-Band is developed in-house by Accsoon to bring significantly improved stability and glitch-free wireless connection between the transmitter and the receiver, giving the user increased confidence during a shoot.
